Important areas are marked by the red rectangles. The 5 digit CRN#’s are very important. Please pay attention to the CRN#. Students are registered by the CRN/ Section #’s so a wrong CRN/Section #’s will result in the student being registered for the wrong section and/or course.
Choosing a Science Lecture and Lab

Both the respective science lecture and the lab have to be taken together. Example: Both the selected sections of lecture and lab have to be open for the student to be registered in the science course (lecture and lab). In the example below the student would not be for BSC 2085 and BSC 2085L (lab) because the 22027 – lecture is closed.

No courses on schedule mean that the student is not registered for any courses. Reasons are: 1) section closure/seating availability (most frequent reason) 2) prerequisite test score/issues 3) science and lab sections that are paired together were not selected.
